

ABSTRACT

A holder for cameras, comprising three arms that are interconnected at inner ends thereof through a common, central joint device, and a 5 camera fixture. The camera fixture is located on an outer end of a first arm or main arm, the second and third arms forming side arms that are individually pivotable and lockable in different angular positions in relation to the main arm.